Library News You Can Use

Greetings from the Outreach Department! We're excited to share the latest updates on our efforts to make library services more accessible and inclusive to our entire community. Since 2018, we've been working hard to break down barriers and reach individuals who face challenges in getting to our physical library locations.

Are you familiar with House Calls, our free, monthly home delivery service? People who are unable to visit any of our six locations can still use the library's resources from the comfort of their own homes. This includes senior facilities where we also provide regular programming.

Another way we share library resources is by actively participating in a wide range of neighborhood activities. By immersing ourselves in these public gatherings, we engage with diverse communities and provide access to the wealth of knowledge and resources available from the library. Whether it's setting up information booths, hosting book drives, or collaborating with local organizations, we are committed to making library resources easily accessible and enjoyable for everyone, everywhere.

We also provide support for 16 Little Free Libraries in Muskingum County. These community-driven libraries, stocked monthly by the Friends of the Library, not only provide easy access to books but also serve as landmarks on the world map, showcasing the library's dedication to promoting literacy and a love for reading.

We have made significant strides in expanding library services and ensuring that every member of the community has access to free resources and programs offered by the library. When you see us on the road or at an event, be sure to say hi!
